HIGHLY RESPECTED FRANK RESIDENT IS DROWNED

It is with sincere regret we this week have to announce the passing of Thomas Fisher, a most highly respected citizen of Frank and former employee of the C.P.R.

Mr. Fisher was in Blairmore on Saturday evening, and at a late hour, probably between 10.30 and 11.00, undertook to walk home via the railway track. He had for some time past been subject to severe heart attacks, and is believed to have been stricken with an attack while crossing the railway bridge immediately west of Frank, falling through into the swift river current, which swept him a distance of several hundred yards.

The gruesome find was made by Mr. Kroil, who, while fishing in the vicinity, wading in rather deep water during the afternoon of Sunday, touched an object with his foot that aroused his curiosity. On reaching for it, he discovered what appeared to be the tail of a man's coat. He called J. Frederickson, living near by, and the pair satisfied themselves that the find was the body of a drowned man. The police were notified and the remains were removed to the Crown's Nest Undertaking Parlor at Blairmore, being fully identified as those of Thomas Fisher.

Mr. Fisher was sixty-four years of age, and is survived by his widow, son and daughter, with whom profound sympathy is expressed.

Funeral took place from the residence at Frank on Tuesday evening; the remains being laid to rest in Hillcrest cemetery. Members of the Masonic Order attended, deceased being a member of long standing in an Old Country lodge.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Fisher, son and daughter, desire to tender their sincere thanks to the following: Blairmore and Hillcrest Masonic lodges, cars, the Frank Fire Brigade, for various kindnesses shown; also the following for floral tributes of respect and sympathy: Dear Wife and family, pillow; Officers and Members Rocky Mountain Lodge 86, A.E. & A.M.; Fellow Workers of Passburg, Sentinel Lodge 26, A.F. & A.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E. Sherring, Mete William, Blairmore S.L. wreaths; Morris C.G.L.T. Group, Miss Betty Sutherland (Leithbridge), Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and Mr. Brittan (Ferne), Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Gahn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tunnah and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pozzi and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Blais, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Murray, N. Finnemore, Mr. and Mrs. Drake and family, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ruzicka and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dutton and family, sprays.

MRS A SHAFER LAID TO REST

The remains of Mrs. Anton Shafer were laid to rest in the local Catholic cemetery on Friday forenoon last, the funeral being largely attended. Service was conducted at St. Anne's church by Rev. Father Harrington.

Mr. Anton Shafer and sons, John and Joseph, wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who were so kind and considerate during the illness of Mrs. Shafer and in their recent bereavement. Floral tributes, which were beautiful and very much appreciated, included the following: Staff of F. M. Thompson Co. Ltd., R. Gray, B. Ozut, Mrs. F. M. Pinkney and Roland, The family, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson and family, Blairmore Lodge No. 15, B.P.O.E., W. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. George Macfan and Isobel, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pinkney.

In this world of speed, jazz, politics and taxes, it's glorious that there's such a thing as fishin'.

ROAD THROUGH GAP TO BE MADE PASSABLE

Hillcrest, Alberta, June 23.—Fishermen throughout the southern part of the province will be pleased to learn that, due to representation made by the local Fish & Game Association in Edmonton, word has been received that the road through "The Gap" on the Old Man River, about twenty-five miles north of Lundbreck, will be made passable for automobile within a very short time.

During the recent floods approximately a mile of this road was badly damaged, being washed away to the bare rock walls in two or three places and making even foot traffic hazardous. Due to the efforts of Wm. E. Antel, the forest ranger above the Gap, with assistance voluntarily given by Jack Morden, a local guide and trapper, the road has been repaired to such an extent that foot travel is now quite safe. Without more assistance, however, it is doubtful if the road could have been made safe for general traffic until late in the summer—hence the request made to the government by the Fish & Game Protective Association that additional men be employed to enable the road to be opened for automobile traffic during the present fishing season.

Information received indicates that Mr. Blegen, director of forestry, is taking a personal interest in the matter, and will either move one of the camps at present working near Red Deer down to do the work, or, if that is not possible, additional men will be engaged to put the road into shape as soon as possible.—Secretary.

FORESTRY PICTURES MAY BE SHOWN IN BLAIRMORE

The local town council, through Mayor Farmer, is in receipt of a communication from the forest service branch of the Provincial Department of Lands and Mines, stating that the motion picture truck of the Vancouver Branch of the Canadian Forestry Association, equipped fully with power plant, etc., in charge of Mr. E. V. Ablett, would be in Alberta between the dates of August 1st to 15th, inclusive, and would be prepared to stop over in Blairmore if arrangements could be made for the entertainment of their lecture.

They advise that they have an exceptionally fine set of films this year and feel sure that they would prove interesting and instructive to the people and help to create a keener regard for the protection of our forests and game.

No charge is made for admission to the lecture, but usually a collection is taken towards defraying some of the expense.

The motion picture truck could arrive in Blairmore on Monday, August the 15th.

In reply to the communication, the secretary was advised to state that necessary arrangements could be made, and that the local Orpheum theatre might be available.

Ferne will observe as a holiday period Friday morning to Monday morning, July 1st to 4th.

Where Milk Is Scarce

Settlement in Northern Manitoba Has Only One Cow

Although the government of Manitoba may take over the milk industry of the Province and operate it as a public utility, it is not expected there will be any change in the price of milk in the little settlement of Pitowitown, where the Hudson Bay Railway has a division point. The milk industry there is a monopoly. One cow, Betsy Jane, controls the whole output and it sells for 50 cents a quart. Betsy Jane is the only cow so far able to survive in that part of the country, whose winter elements are not propitious to the dairy industry.

Thirteen-Year-Old Chicago Boy Takes Trips Alone

The boy who created considerable publicity by his unaccompanied world trips arrived in Winnipeg recently en route for Vancouver to sail for the Fiji Islands. He is Harry DeGerald, 13-year-old son of John DeGerald, vice-president of the People's National Bank and Trust Company, Chicago. Each year this boy traveler sets out on his own for some part of the globe, his last trip being to the Arctic in 1931.

Old Fur Trading Contracts

Archivist, Revealing Conditions In Early Days Of New France

Study of conditions in the fur trading business in the early days of New France throws a revealing light on the life of that period. E. Z. MacCott, Montreal archivist, reports in connection with his investigation and interpretation of contracts drawn up between early French traders and settlers and French exporting and exploring companies.

The archivist has traced 13,055 contracts signed between the years 1670 and 1770. It shows that traders undertook, even in those early days, to travel in northern Quebec, to the Lake Superior district and west of Lake Winnipeg. The contracts of some of the men who first ventured beyond the Rockies have been unearthed by Mr. MacCott, and he soon expects to publish his findings in this connection in volume form. Detroit and the southern United States received their quota of pioneers.

Few women ventured to travel the rough paths with the first adventurers. But as early as 1700 some women took to the trail and soon afterwards whole families moved into the wilderness in search of pelts and forest game. "The women revealed the same fortitude and courage as men," says the archivist.

Prince Is Perfect Host

Staff Has Little To Do With Plans For Entertainment

Details of recent private and informal entertainments by the Prince of Wales reveal a side of his nature but little known to the public.

As a host the Prince plans most of his parties himself, and leaves little to his staff. He selects the menu for his own guests, and has scores of recipes for unusual dishes which he has collected in all parts of the world. He has very decided ideas about food, and takes enormous pains for its preparation.

At work in his study, the Prince invariably makes his own tea. "I always get it right then," he says, and for lunch usually takes only a business man's snack, probably a plate of cheese and celery sandwiches.

The Prince's parties at York House are often held in the grey-and-silver room, an apartment with folding doors and alcoves so constructed that it can accommodate dinner parties of all sizes. Even when the parties are small, there is a sense of coziness and intimacy lacking in the usual huge Mayfair reception room.

Chance For Canada

Sterilized Cream Export Suggested By Montreal Produce Firm

Henderson-Stuart, Ltd., produce brokers in Montreal, have written to the Quebec Department of Agriculture stating they had received information from England that sterilized cream in six-ounce tins were being imported into England in increasing quantities. The butter fat content, according to the letter, was approximately 25 per cent, and the price was 12-shillings for 46 tins.

In the past, the writer says, the great bulk of the supply was imported from Holland and Denmark, but in the fact that a financial corporation is not only lacking the land on which it made the loan, but it is also lacking the man to whom it made the loan, and his ability to fulfill his obligations.

The Colonization Finance Corporation founders had a knowledge of the psychology of discouragement. When a farmer fell down in his regular payments on his mortgage his farm suffered. Anxiety sapped his resources and resulted in a general let-down of his farming activities. Soil became depleted, weeds accumulated and the whole business sagged.

The argument for the new method of farm management was that if these farmers had an interest could be brought back to par, with the soil in good condition, clean and free from weeds, during the period of the general depression, when the change for the better came and farmers could rely on a fair return for their loans, they would be in a better position to take advantage of the upward turn.

The Colonization Finance Corporation has been able to secure the services of men of the highest practical and academic standing in the field of advising methods of management of the farms included in the various zones. The men already in the field have proved their worth. In the two years operation in Manitoba the zone farm management plan has advanced beyond the period of experiment. This year 300,000 acres have come under farm management, a large portion of which is in Saskatchewan. Altogether the Corporation has 434,500 acres under its supervision, consisting largely of mortgages in trust, sales agreements and a small percentage of real estate.

Prof. H. B. Sommerfeld, who has just received an appointment to the zone of which Yorkton is the centre, was enthusiastically welcomed to his new field by the Board of Trade.

New Method Of Farm Management

Colonization Finance Corporation Adds To Staff Of Zone Managers

The recent appointment of a staff of six zone farm managers by the Colonization Finance Corporation of Canada, Limited, to assist farmers to maintain themselves in these trying times on their farms and to improve their condition, marks the latest and one of the most practical forms of constructive efforts in agriculture.

The Colonization Finance Corporation was set up by a number of the leading insurance and trust companies of Canada for the purpose of meeting the situation caused by the general agricultural depression. C. M. Bowman, Waterloo, Ont., is president; J. Weston, Toronto, and Col. J. S. Dennis, vice-president; and T. O. Forze, secretary.

For several years the body has carried on its work in the province of Manitoba to the mutual advantage of farmer and interested mortgage company. There are also zone farm managers in Saskatchewan and one in Ontario. So quietly has this valuable service been performed that few outside the persons immediately concerned had any knowledge of it. The excellence of the work and the sincerity of the effort co-operation is simply shown in the way the farmers are responding to it. This year the zone farm management is almost trebled, making necessary the degree of P.D. from the University of Minnesota.

Six new men will enter the field, five for Saskatchewan and one for Ontario. They are: H. B. Sommerfeld, Yorkton, Sask.; O. S. Longman, Indian Head, Sask.; Joe B. Day, Oxbow, Sask.; Oscar Winkler, Canora, Sask.; William Harkness, Weyburn, Sask.; Kenneth D. McLean, Birtle, Man.

The work of these men, along with that of the zone managers already appointed, come under the direction of the chief farm manager of the Corporation, Frank W. Reinhold, a man whose record in farm management, complete confidence in his ability and judgment.

The principle underlying this new financial judgment is that it is co-operation for mutual benefit. That it is a mutual benefit is shown in the response of the farmer to avoid himself of the services of the zone managers.

The new feature of this service is that a financial corporation is not only lacking the land on which it made the loan, but it is also lacking the man to whom it made the loan, and his ability to fulfill his obligations.

The Colonization Finance Corporation founders had a knowledge of the psychology of discouragement. When a farmer fell down in his regular payments on his mortgage his farm suffered. The day farm was the one on which the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company carried out an extensive experiment with fertilizers. Cultivated own farm interests, Mr. Day has been connected with creameries and cow testing corporations. He was with the Manitoba Wheat Pool.

While he was studying for his Master's degree in the old manager for a tax survey of Minnesota. His ability brought him the offer of a position as agricultural representative in that state, but he refused, preferring to return to Saskatchewan.

Oscar Winkler, Canora, Sask., the Colonization Finance Corporation obtained the services of Oscar Winkler, a recent graduate of the Manitoba Agricultural College.

Mr. Winkler speaks a number of languages which will enable him to work effectively with the farmer clients in the Canora district, most of whom are of European birth or extraction. Already he has made his place in that district and his coming has been greatly appreciated by the farmers.

Mr. Winkler has been manager of a large sugar beet farm and assisted in a land settlement project before coming to Canora. Since coming, he has managed a large farm at Margo, Sask. Two years ago he entered Manitoba Agricultural College from which institution he was graduated this year with the degree of B.S.A. During his studies he has been a member of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture in southeastern Manitoba, with headquarters at St. Boniface, Man.

William Harkness, Weyburn, Sask., William Harkness, who is now in charge of the Colonization Finance Corporation zone at Weyburn, Sask., was born and raised on a farm in Scotland. Migrating to Canada, he managed farms at Hartney, Poplar Point and Glenora, Man.

He is a graduate of Manitoba Agricultural College. Serving in the 43rd Battalion, Mr. Harkness served overseas until 1919. On his return to Canada he joined the Settlement Board as field supervisor and inspector, holding position until 1930. While with the S.S.R. Mr. Harkness was supervisor of the "S.S.R. Saskatchewan, Swift Current, Oxbow and Regina. He appreciated and purchased land, stock and equipment. In addition to his work among the soldier settlers he carried out special work in connection with the settlement of British families in his area. A valuable period of service with a private mortgage company preceded his appointment with the C.F.C.

Kenneth D. McLean, Birtle, Man. Kenneth D. McLean, one of the younger farm managers of the Colonization Finance Corporation, has been appointed assistant in the Brandon and Moosehead zones of management.

He is a Manitoba man born in the Reston district, where his father is a well-known farmer.

He has done survey work in economics for the Pioneer Problem Committee, was in the Swan River district, and was a member of the Marketing Board scholarship in economics in second and third years.

After attending the University of Minnesota, taking animal husbandry as a major, and agricultural economics as a minor, he was graduated from the University of Minnesota.

Prof. Sommerfeld has been in frequent consultation with Judge C. W. L. at fairs and exhibitions, including Brandon, Regina and Saskatoon. He also has trained stock judging teams in Manitoba Agricultural College, which have won four first place prizes at both Manitowish and Saskatchewan.

O. S. Longman, Indian Head, Sask. O. S. Longman, who takes over the management of the Indian Head, Sask., zone, is a Western Canadian. He was born near Canora, Sask., and grew up in the Deloraine, Man. district. He is a graduate of Manitoba Agricultural College, where he has been instructor in agricultural mechanics, field husbandry and other farm subjects at agriculture schools at Clarendon and Olds, Alberta. In 1920 he was appointed principal of the School of Agriculture at Raymond, Alberta, and in this capacity superintended irrigation demonstrations and extension services among the farmers of the district.

For some time Mr. Longman has been on the staff of the Alberta Department of Agriculture and in this connection conducted special investigations into conditions in the irrigated areas of the province. His report on the dry areas resulted in the passing of the Berry Area Act by the Alberta Legislature. He has also made a study of the best irrigation system, a survey of the water supply, and the sugar beet industry in Southern Alberta, control of noxious weeds, use of fertilizer, and breeding and management of livestock.

Mr. Longman's appointment to the staff of the Colonization Finance Corporation was felt as a distinct loss by the farmers of Alberta and was deeply regretted by the residents of Hanna and vicinity.

Joe B. Day, Oxbow, Sask. Joe B. Day is another graduate of Manitoba Agricultural College under appointment as farm manager for the Colonization Finance Corporation. His headquarters are Oxbow, Sask. Mr. Day has a degree of M.Sc. from the University of Minnesota. Agricultural economics are a specialty.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Day is settled in the Wilcox district more than thirty years ago. Mr. Day has managed the Wilcox zone for five years when he specialized in seed grain.

"Young man," solemnly remarked the sage of Potato Hill, "when I dip my pen in the bottle that is the only time all day that I get any chance to rest. Do you want to work me to death?"

"Well," said the latter, "you do all your writing with a pen, so I think of the time you could save in not having to dip your pen into no ink bottle."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JULY 9

CHILDHOOD AND EDUCATION OF MOSES

Golden Text: "Train up a child in the way he should go; And even when he is old he will not depart from it."—Proverbs 22:6.

Lesson: Exodus 2:1-10; Acts 7:20-23.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 119:9-16.

Explanations and Comments

The Birth and Hiding of Moses, Exodus 2:1-10.—To Amram and Jochebed (Exodus 6:20), husband and wife who belonged to the tribe of Levi, a son was born who was strong and healthy, "a goodly child." Stephen calls him "exceeding fair," Acts 7:20. "Some people have to struggle all their lives against physical disabilities and deformities. It is useless to teach a child who is handicapped to make his fellows by unusual attractiveness and power, that he is no better than his fellows who are handicapped by the same thing. From the beginning, the privileged one must be taught to be content with his lot. Privilege and responsibility are indissolubly united: That is the wholesome truth which is as old as the unsuitably enriched life.—R. C. Gillette.

For three months Jochebed kept her baby securely hidden, despite Pharaoh's order that every male babe of the Hebrews should be cast into the Nile, where they would drown and their bodies be devoured by the crocodiles.

There are hosts of babies in our great cities who are exposed to a worse fate than were the Hebrew infants. What is being done to save them?

Jochebed was a woman of ingenuity and daring. The time came when she had to place her baby in a basket (ark) out of papyrus plants (bulrushes) and daubed it with bitumen (slime) to make it water-tight. Into this she put the babe and laid the child among the reeds by the river bank. His sister Miriam was left to watch from a distance.

"So it does—theoretically. Only from a practical and purely material point of view, everything else is left to the imagination. The fact that I am literally starving. Oh!—joyfully catching sight of Jean and Tormarin making their way up the room—'Here they are at last! Collect your water, Nick, and let's begin.'"

Neither of the late comers appeared in the least embarrassed by the tardiness of their arrival, and they responded to tentative enquiries concerning their afternoon's amusement with a disappointing lack of self-consciousness.

Lady Anne experienced an inward quail of misgiving. There seemed too calm and tranquil a camaraderie between the two to please her altogether. It was as though the last few days had brought about a silent understanding between them—a wordless compact.

She picked up the menu and assumed an absorption in its contents which was far from feeling.

"What are we all going to eat?" she asked. "I think we must hurry a little, or we shall be late for the play. Then I shall lose the exquisite thrill of seeing the curtain go up."

Tormarin looked annoyed.

"Does it still thrill you, you absurdly youthful person?"

"Of course it does. I always consider that the quality of the thrill produced by the rise of the curtain is the measure of one's capacity for enjoyment. When it no longer thrills me, I shall know that I am getting old and bored, and that I only go to the theatre to kill time and because everyone else goes."

Dinner proceeded leisurely in spite of Lady Anne's admonition that they should hurry, and presently Nick, who had glanced across the room once or twice as though secretly amused, remarked confidentially:

"My Lucretia Borgia lady is taking quite uncommon interest in someone of our party. I'm afraid I can't flatter myself that she's lost her heart to me, as I've only observed this development since Jean and Blaise joined us. Blaise, I believe it's you who have won her devoted—if, probably, somewhat violent—affections!"

"Your Lucretia Borgia lady? Which is she?" enquired Jean.

"You can't see her, because you are sitting with your back to her," replied Nick importantly. "And it isn't manners to screw your head round in a public restaurant—even although the modern reincarnation of an unpleasantly vengeful lady may be sitting, just behind you. But if you'll look into that glass opposite you—a little to the right side of it—you'll see who I mean. She's quite unmistakable."

Jean tilted her head a little and peered slantwise into the mirror which faced her. It was precisely at the same moment that Nick's "Lucretia Borgia lady" looked up for a second time from her peche-Melba, and Jean found herself gazing straight into the dense darkness of the eyes of Madame de Varigny.

"Why—why?" she stammered in astonishment. "It is the Comtesse de Varigny!" She turned to Lady Anne, adding explanatorily: "You remember, madame, I told you about her? She chaperoned me at Montevideo, after Glyn had departed."

The recognition had been mutual. Madame de Varigny had half-risen from her seat and was poised in an attitude of expectancy, smiling and gesturing with expressive hands as an invitation to Jean to join her.

"I'll go across and speak to her," said Jean. "I can't imagine what she is doing in London."

"I suppose you, too, met this rather splendid-looking personage, Montevideo?" enquired Nick of his brother, as Jean quitted the table.

Tormarin shook his head.

"I never spoke to her. I saw her once, on the night of a fancy-dress party at the hotel, arranged as Cleopatra."

"She'd look the part all right," commented Nick. "She gives me the impression of being one of those angel-and-devil-mixed kind of women—the latter flavour predominating."

"I should rather feel the desirability of emulating Agag in any dealings I had with her. Good Lord!"—with a lively accession of interest—"Jean's bringing her over here. By Jove! She really is a beautiful person, isn't she? Like a sort of Eastern empress."

"Madame de Varigny wishes to be presented to you, Lady Anne," said Jean, and proceeded to effect introductions all round.

I remember seeing you with Meez Peterson at Montevideo," remarked the Comtesse, as she shook hands with Blaise, her dark eyes resting on him curiously.

"Join us and finish your dinner at our table," suggested Lady Anne hospitably.

But Madame de Varigny protested volubly that she had already finished her meal, though she would sit and talk with them a little if it was agreeable. It was—quite agreeable. She herself said that. No one could be more charming than she was when she chose, and on this occasion she elected to make herself about as enjoyable charming as it is possible for a woman to be, entirely conquering the hearts of Lady Anne and Nick. Her simple, childlike warmth and heartiness of manner was in such almost ludicrous contrast to her majestic, dark-browed type of beauty that it took them completely by storm.

"This is only just a flying visit that I pay to England," she explained, less. "It is a great good fortune that I should have chanced to encounter ma chere Meez Peterson."

"It's certainly an odd chance brought you to the same hotel," agreed Nick.

"Is it not?"—delightfully.

And, from the frank wonder and satisfaction she evinced at the coincidence, no one could possibly have surmised that the sole cause and origin of her "flying visit" was a short paragraph contained in the "Morning Post," a copy of which, by her express order, had been delivered daily at Chateau Varigny ever since her return thither from the Swiss Alps. The paragraph referred simply to the arrival at Claridge's of Lady Anne Breanan, accompanied by her two sons and Miss Jean Peterson.

"And are you making a long stay in London?" enquired Madame de Varigny.

Lady Anne shook her head.

"No. We go back to Staple tomorrow."

The other's face fell.

"We are going on to the theatre," she said impulsively. "If you have no other engagement, why not come with us? There will be plenty of room in our box."

Madame de Varigny professed herself enchanted. Curiously enough, she seemed to have no particular wish to draw Jean into anything in the nature of a private talk, but appeared quite content to take part in the general conversation, while her eyes rested appreciatively now on Jean, now upon Tormarin, as though they afforded her an abstract interest of some kind.

Even at the theatre, where from her corner seat she was able to envisage the other occupants of the box, she seemed almost as much interested in them as in the play that was being performed on the stage. Once, as Tormarin leaned forward and made some comment to Jean, their two pairs of eyes met in a look of mutual understanding of some small joke, or the quiet watcher smiled contentedly, as though the little byplay satisfied some inner questioning.

With the fall of the curtain at the end of the first act, she turned to Lady Anne, politely enthusiastic.

"But it is a charming play," she said. "It is no wonder the house is so full."

Her glance strayed carelessly over the body of the auditorium, then to the stage, and back to the box, a minute later she touched Jean's arm.

"I think there is someone in the stalls trying to attract your attention," she observed quietly.

Even as she spoke, Nick, too, became aware of the same fact.

"Hullo!" he exclaimed. "There's Geoffrey Burke down below. I didn't know he was in town."

Madame de Varigny found the effect upon her companions of this apparently insignificant announcement distinctly interesting. It was as though a thrill of disconcerting consciousness ran through the other occupants of the box. Jean flushed suddenly and uncomfortably, and the dark, keen eyes that were watching from behind the fringe of dusky lashes noted an almost imperceptible exchange of expression flit across the faces of both Lady Anne and Tormarin. In neither case was the change altogether indicated by any outward sign. They quickly upon a bow of mutual recognition, the music of the orchestra suddenly ceased and the curtain went up for the second act.

Queen Mary is a model housewife. She is a wise shopper and a careful spender and, best of all, she never makes mistakes in her accounts.

The authority for these compliments is not King George, but Sir Edward Wallington, who, at 78, has just retired as treasurer to the Queen after 15 years of office.

"I have paid all the Queen's private bills since my appointment," Sir Edward told an interviewer, and he has been on hundreds of shopping expeditions with her. I have always been guided by the Queen's current prices and the discrimination she showed in buying the right article. I never found a flaw in her bills."

A Three-in-One City

Shanghai, China's Largest City, Has Three Separate Governments

Shanghai, the largest city in China, is really three cities—the Native City, the International Settlement, and the French Concession, each separately governed by its own authorities.

The Native City is further subdivided into three parts, each some distance from the other—Chapel Nantao, and the borough of Pootung, the latter across the Hwangpu River. Shanghai was one of the first Chinese cities to open to Western commerce, one of five "treaty ports" established in 1842. British merchants who moved in during the next few years obtained a concession to manage municipal affairs in their settlement.

Record For Scotland

No death sentence was passed in the Scotch courts during 1931, nor were there any executions, the annual report of the prisons department for last year shows.

The commitments of prisoners of all classes, however, was 16,683, as against 16,618 in 1930.

There are about 103,000,000 Germans in the world. Only about 63,000,000 live in Germany.

TOO FAT AT 22

Lost 10 lbs.—And Backache

"I am 22 years of age, and I weighed 160 lbs. I had pains in the back and head. I didn't care about anything. When my friend told me to try Kroenchen's, I would not at first. I was sick of taking stuff. But since I tried Kroenchen's, six months ago, I have lost 10 lbs. and feel a different woman, so I am very thankful to Kroenchen's who recommended Kroenchen's."

The condition which caused this woman to put on weight was also the cause of her backache and headaches. The whole trouble was due to the internal organs failing to expel from the body, regularly and completely, the waste products of digestion.

The six salts of Kroenchen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day the waste and poison that cumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yet surely—until backache and headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

A Novel Heating System

Electric Panels in Roof Radiate Warmth Like Sun

Two new Liverpool churches, one at Anfield, and one at Morris Green, are to have an entirely novel form of heating. They will be kept warm by electric panels fitted in the roof and all the warmth will be directed straight down by dull electric rays at a low temperature.

The property of the rays in the shipping in these churches will feel as if the sun is shining down on them. These are the first churches in the world to be fitted with the new heating system, which is a British patent.

No boiler-house or chimney is required, and labor need not supervise the plant. Once the power has been switched on it is controlled automatically by thermostats, which will maintain the temperature of the building at whatever degree is needed.

Most Dangerous Living Thing

Poison Of Mamba Snake Kills In A Few Minutes

The most dangerous living thing, in the opinion of Captain Barnett Harris, is the black mamba, a snake found in the heart of Africa.

Harris, in an interview at Grand Rapids, Mich., said the mamba's poison kills a human within a few minutes after the bite. It can rear up high enough to strike a man on horseback.

The captain, returned to America after a photographic expedition in Africa, said scientists have recently perfected a serum which will counteract the mamba's poison. But, he said, the serum must be administered within a few seconds after the bite.

Shall Our Monetary System Be Changed?

An Analysis By Major Strange Of Several Of The Proposals Made

There appear to be two dominant schools of thought regarding the present depression. One that considers that monetary causes have had much to do with it, and the other that believes that money has had little or nothing to do with it. Many proposals have been put forth by the first group for changes and modifications to be made in both national and international monetary and financial systems. Due to the variety and complexity of these proposals, and due to the intricacy of the whole question of national and international finance and currency, it is not to be wondered at that the plain man is somewhat confused with it all. We have received requests to endeavor to explain some of the suggestions that have been made. An attempt will be made, therefore, in this article to set out the main points of some of the various proposals. First of all it might be well to review how the currencies of England, Canada and the United States have been affected by the depression because the differences that exist between them form the basis of several of the proposals that have been made.

Until recently, the British sterling bank notes could be exchanged on demand for gold at the rate of approximately 124 grains of gold for each pound note. The United States and Canada have gold which could be similarly exchanged for gold on demand at the rate of approximately 28 grains of gold for each dollar note. (The gold referred to is official standard gold—not pure gold.)

For many years past, the countries of the world have issued paper notes, currency and other forms of paper money. These have been considered as being equivalent to the gold they held in support of such currency and paper. On the average, countries seem to have considered that they were safe in holding about 40 per cent gold behind the official notes they issued, which notes could be exchanged for gold almost instantaneously. It is, therefore, quite obvious that if at any time more than 40 per cent of these holding the notes of the various countries on a gold standard were to demand gold, which they would be legally entitled to do, that there would be insufficient gold to redeem all the paper notes issued.

Up to quite recently, the number of persons or governments that desired to have gold rather than the paper notes and currency of the first-class nations, was practically negligible, so that for many years the 40 per cent of the gold behind notes was a safe covering. Due to the war and its aftermath, however, a decided lack of confidence between the nations began to manifest itself (although this has been usual after every large war in the past). One of the results of this lack of confidence was that a number of the holders of British sterling notes demanded gold in exchange for their notes—consequently a terrible shortage of gold took place from England until there was a danger, had it continued, that there would be no gold left in the country at all. (The unequal international distribution of gold further complicated the situation because of the unusually high percentage of the world's gold that has been accumulated by France and the United States). Great Britain, therefore, by law, stated that her sterling notes would no longer be exchangeable for gold. This was done, not from any desire to indulge in inflation of currency, but solely with a view of preserving the gold that the Bank of England still had left, so that at least some gold backing could be preserved for the sterling paper currency and notes.

Naturally, it cannot be expected that a country's notes that are not exchangeable for gold on demand can be as valuable as those of a country that is willing at all times to exchange its notes for gold. That is, of course, under the present monetary system. The British sterling is, generally speaking, the only recognized international standard of value.

Under the present sterling pound note, therefore, fell on the international markets of the world below the price of those paper currencies of countries such as the United States and France that still remained on what is usually termed the full gold standard. The English pound fell from an exchange value of 4.86 American dollars down to an exchange value of only 3.66 dollars, which means, in other words, that the British sterling pound note, which used to be worth 124 grains of gold, at this moment, only worth approximately 91 grains of gold. (This amount of gold, by the way, can still be obtained for the British pound sterling by means of changing sterling first into American paper currency and then changing the American paper currency into gold.) The fall in value of the British pound note in relation to the American dollar has been roughly 25 per cent.

The Canadian dollar has similarly fallen in value, excepting that it has depreciated less than half as much as the British pound relative to the American dollar. The Canadian and American dollar bills normally are worth about 124 grains of gold. The Canadian dollar, however, today is worth and only represents approximately 28 grains of gold. In this connection, it must not be forgotten, however, that the British pound and the Canadian dollar, when in gold itself, are worth just as much terms as the American gold dollars as they ever were. The value of Canadian dollars or British pounds in gold itself has not depreciated.

Such is the state of affairs at this moment and those who believe that monetary causes have brought about the present depression argue that some changes with our monetary system will have to be made before any economic improvement can take place.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND DUSTING DISTASTEFUL

Dust cloths going into discard; Unpleasant to use; a bother to Wash

APPELFORD WONDER PAPER HAS GREAT VOEGUE

Of all household tasks, that of dusting is the least appealing to the majority of women.

However, this condition, like many another connected with housework, is undergoing radical change. In a great many Canadian homes the women are discarding dust cloths entirely, and are using Appelford Wonder Paper instead, because it actually dusters—as it cleans—as it washes, doing a better and much quicker job than the old dust cloth ever did.

This new, and extremely modern Wonder Paper, is made from clean rags, and soft paper pulp, treated in a scientific way with a high-grade furniture polish, and absorbs dirt instead of spreading it.

Appelford Wonder Paper comes in handy-size packages, twenty-five large sheets for twenty-five cents. You can use a sheet in a solid wall and go over the surface again and again. When you are finished, simply fold or tear the Wonder Paper inside out. After you have given a quick and lasting finish to furniture and woodwork, you can still use Wonder Paper on the floors, if you wish.

And when you are through, there's no need to wash or shake out or wash. Throw the soiled Wonder Paper away and you have completed the most tiresome part of your housework in half the time and with half the effort.

Wonder Paper is made by the makers of the famous PARA-SANI Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box.

Still Observe Old Custom

German Town Distributes Bread On Anniversary Of Robber's Capture

Many customs, centuries old, survive in European countries. One of these is the practice at Kyritz, Germany, of distributing hot rolls on the anniversary of the capture of a notorious robber. The bandit terrorists of the countryside at one period of the middle ages. He and his men would account any traveler who appeared without robbery, and at times descend upon towns to carry off booty and hostages. Then they would take to the hills, where their knowledge enabled them to defy pursuers. After slipping away many times he was finally run down and captured. In celebration of the event the lord who ruled that particular section of the country gave away loaves of bread to all his serfs and vassals. The custom never has died out.

From Our Own Correspondents

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

Miss Peggy Crawford, of Calgary, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Dorman. Miss Edith Hoffman, of Calgary, is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, here.

A number of fishermen journeyed to their old favorite fishing holes at the Flathead on Sunday last and returned with some of the big ones.

The town enjoyed a special treat on Friday night, June the 24th, when Mrs. A. D. Williams held a pianoforte recital in the B. & B. hall. Mrs. J. Booth made a most pleasing chairman to listen to, with his many humorous and witty compliments as the programme drew along to its final "God Save The King." The programme was as follows: "O Canada," followed by two selections on the piano by Master Billy Barnes. A. D. Williams gave two vocal selections, "My Dreams," by Tosti, and "Mother Macree," by Olcott. Master Dean Shepherd then marched onto the platform, and in a most confident manner played "Long, Long Ago" and "Hallelujah" on the piano. Next, J. Kolinski favored the audience with two violin selections, "Hungarian Dance No. 5" and "Humoresque." Frances Kolinski then gave her listeners "Fairies Dance" and "Evening Prayer" on the piano. Mr. C. Thompson, of Michel, followed with two vocal selections, the first "Old Fashioned Town," and the second "Little Boy Blue." After the Hungarian Dance and Azela, two piano selections by Ellen Barnes, Mr. Booth contributed to the programme by ending the first part with an amusing monologue, "The Old Tom Cat." Myrie Almond opened the second half of the programme with the selection "Pixies' Good Night Song," followed by A. D. Williams with two vocal selections, "A Dream" and "Welsh Folk Song." Evelyn McGruther then favored the audience with "A Rustle Dance" and "The Edgewood Waltz" on the piano. After J. Kolinski rendered "La Zingana" and "Flower Song," Mrs. Williams and Bessie Barnes played a piano duet, entitled "A Joyous Return," followed by Bessie with the "Minuet in G" as a piano selection. Mr. C. Thompson again favored the audience with two vocal selections, "The Garden of My Heart" and "You'll Remember Vienna," after which Mr. Williams, by special request, sang "Ar Hydre Nod" in Welsh. Mrs. Williams then rendered "A Curious Story" and "Shepherd Boy" on the piano, followed by Mr. Booth, who drew the programme to a conclusion with two very amusing contributions. A dance followed, which lasted till early morning.

Hillcrest and Corbin footballers battled to a 4-1 score in Hillcrest's favor on Corbin ground on Sunday last.

In a very one-sided game at Michel, Corbin came off worst in a 21-4 score on Sunday at basball.

Mrs. B. Lyne and Mrs. J. Woodward spent the week in Calgary and returned home by motor on Monday.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, of Lethbridge, were visiting relatives and friends here for a few days last week.

Mrs. C. J. Bundy is at present a Calgary visitor.

Mrs. E. S. Easterbrook entertained the ladies of the Cowley Women's Institute at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday night at her home.

Mrs. William Wycliffe, of North Fork, returned on Tuesday from Pincher Station, where she paid a visit to her sister, Mrs. Neilson, who will start shortly for an extended visit to her girlhood home in Ireland.

Cowley went down to defeat to Lundbreck in a game of football on Friday afternoon to the tune of 15 to 4.

Several flower gardens around town are now making a splendid showing. Some fine specimens may be seen in some of them. One party counted over eleven hundred rose buds on three young bushes in the flower garden.

A very successful dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham on Friday night, in aid of the Anglican church in the Livingstone district.

In some instances it is reported that cutworms have destroyed a second crop of grain, which was sowed on June the 20th.

School closed here on Thursday for the summer holidays. The pupils are feeling much relieved after a whole week of writing exams.

Mrs. Ralph Easterbrook and daughter are paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. Cowin.

Miss Ruth Fink, of Spokane, is paying her parents here a visit while on summer holidays.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Andy Hood is at present visiting in Hillcrest.

Nurse Welsh has resigned her position at the hospital, as she is marrying shortly.

The World's Way Out

The subject of tariffs and other trade restricting devices has passed, be it rightly passing, out of the field of partisan politics not only in Canada but throughout the world. The severe economic depression from which all nations have suffered, and from which they still continue to suffer, has taught all people that it is economically impossible to provide work for people everywhere and at the same time erect barriers to prevent them exchanging the products produced by their labor.

The trained economists of all countries, the great bankers and large financial institutions, the executives of transportation systems, and finally the statesmen of the world struggling with the problems of unemployment, debt, ever increasing taxation yet declining revenues, coupled with the necessity of making huge relief expenditures to keep people from starving, now realize that the remedy for this state of affairs lies in encouraging, rather than restricting, trade intercourse throughout the world.

It is no longer a matter of party policy, but of national, yes, international policy. Regardless of party names and old party traditions and former policies, people everywhere now appreciate the economic truth that it is impossible for every nation to have a so-called favorable balance of trade, that is, selling more to other countries than they buy from them. If one nation sells abroad, some other nation must buy, and when every nation adopts as its national policy the selling of the largest possible volume of its products abroad and buying as little as possible from other nations, the inevitable result is stagnation of trade. That stagnation has been brought about, and the whole world is suffering as a result, and the result is the destruction of human beings and the women are out of employment, while the youth of all countries approaching manhood and womanhood find no openings available in which to exercise their abilities and energies.

The real problem facing the world is how to break down these trade barriers. Inside the walls thus erected along all national boundaries there have grown up industries of all kinds, many of them artificially forced and developed and protected against similar industries located elsewhere in the natural environment. To remove this protection, these artificially created and stimulated industries, thus confronting them with the competition of the more naturally placed and established industries of the same class, means the extinction of the former, resulting in loss and readjustments which no country is anxious to face.

Nevertheless, the world has reached an impasse where such losses and readjustments must take place. In the final analysis, these losses would ultimately be offset by greater gains, but these are not the gains, but the great national gains.

The world is beginning to realize this, but the problem is how to effect the necessary changes. It is doubtful if it can be brought about by any great international conference or agreement between all nations. And of course it is impossible for one nation alone to throw down its tariff walls while all other nations maintain them. Great Britain stood alone among the nations for many years, but the result was that it was made the dumping ground for all other nations. It was Britain's action in finally closing its doors that brought home to the world the suicidal course upon which all had embarked.

These tariff barriers were erected piece-meal over a long period of years, they will have to be torn down by simply reversing the process. In the past one nation erected a tariff wall, then other nations followed suit in self protection. Then nation number one raised its wall still higher, and the others followed suit. Now, in order to get out of the jalls they have built for themselves, these nations must begin to lower their walls, brick by brick. Probably the most effective way will be for two nations to enter into trade agreements calling for lower tariffs, or none at all, between them. Trade will begin to flow between such countries. As a result a third nation, and then a fourth will be anxious to enter into the same arrangement.

That this procedure will in all likelihood be followed is indicated by the recent announcement from Luxembourg that Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg have reciprocally agreed not to impose any new tariffs, or other trade restrictions, between them and to proceed by annual reductions of 10 per cent. of their existing tariffs until a defined tariff level is reached. This is the best news this old world has heard for many years. True, these are small nations and not classed as among the foremost trading nations, but it is a hopeful sign.

Now, if that great group of nations constituting the British Commonwealth of Nations will, at the approaching Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, follow this lead and agree among themselves not only to impose no new tariffs, but to remove many of the trade restricting devices at present in vogue, and proceed to enlarge the British preferential features in their tariffs by stated percentages over a term of years until their tariffs against each other are reduced to a minimum, or better still, are wiped out and free trade within the Empire established, the whole world will begin to see light and recover, because if the British Empire as a unit adopts such a policy, the rest of the world cannot afford to maintain restrictionist policies.

And it should always be remembered that it is but a short step from economic warfare to actual physical, military, naval and aerial warfare. Friendly trade relations are the surest guarantees of the maintenance of peaceful political relations between them.

British Expedition Will Visit Brazilian Jungle In Effort To Locate Col. Fawcett

A British expedition has left England to search the heart of the vast Brazilian jungle for the missing British explorer, Colonel Fawcett, who disappeared in interior Mato Grosso in 1925.

Heartened by the story of a Swiss trapper named Ruttin, that he had met and talked with a white man, prisoner of an unknown Indian tribe, last October, the expedition believes it will find Fawcett alive and well and bring him back to England.

The expedition will be led by Robert Churchward, who explored the Araguaya River last year, and Captain John G. Holman, who has spent the greater part of his life in Brazil as hunter and explorer.

Nation's Growing Tax Bill Becoming Heavy Burden To Carry

Mounting cost of government in Canada and suggestion for reducing that cost were discussed by W. L. McGregor, of Windsor, Ont., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, addressing the annual dinner at London, Ont., of the Dominion Bond and Investment Association.

"There is no question that Canadian business men are out and concerned about the expenditures of public authorities and are finding that the nation's growing tax bill is an increasingly heavy burden to carry," said Mr. McGregor, who returned recently from a tour of Canada.

Should Work Hard

Hon. Chas. Dunning Gives Formula For Expediting Trade

Canadians should work hard to earn every honest dollar possible and then spend it to maintain a decent standard of living. This was the formula for expediting a trade revival offered by Hon. Charles Dunning, former Minister of Finance in an address before a London, Ont. Service Club recently.

Without censuring the honest motives of people who suggested basic changes in the economic system, Mr. Dunning said this was not a time to experiment.

Marvels Of Science

There Would Appear To Be No Limit To Man's Ingenuity

There seems to be no limit to man's ingenuity, nor to the persistency of his spirit of research. There is a little observatory at Sidmouth Bay, England, in which a man, named Dr. William Lockyer, and an assistant, are silently at work probing the heavens. This little eye of the world is now in possession of one of the age's marvels.

It is a photographic telescope, a gigantic sky camera, of which marvellous things are expected. Its lenses weigh over a ton and are valued at more than $10,000. The instrument can be left to itself, and will act as a Robot astronomer, for while men are asleep it will indefatigably follow the heavens.

The instrument has strange and fantastic powers. It will record meteors, comets, nebulas which could never otherwise be seen. But the marvel is that it will reveal accidental events that occurred long before prehistoric man walked the earth, for it will depict on its plate light that started for earth many, many millions of years ago.

All that can be wondered is how much further will science advance. Its devotees say that science is only in its infancy. If that is so what will it be at maturity?—Regina Daily Star.

Her charm I did not know.

Time brought her back again.
And gently crept she at the last
Into my life's domain.
And now I see her face aright
As, through life's dusk and gloom,
It lights my way like star beams

Valuations in Contract

By Hamlin B. Hatch, Canadian Club, Toronto

There are two ways cards must be valued in Contract, i.e. from the defensive trick taking probabilities of the hand, and from the quantitative trick taking probabilities of the hand when played on the offensive.

Primarily it may be said the defensive are high card valuations i.e. Ace, Kings, and Queens and their combinations. For defensive purposes barring exceptional cases, ruffing tricks and small cards of long suits cannot be considered.

As shown in previous articles the chief essential of an opening bid is the presence of three or four high cards (called honor tricks or quick tricks) as a minimum, in the opening bidder's hand. These high cards are ones which the opening bidder thinks, will, under normal distribution of the other cards in the other hands, take from two to three tricks against any bid the opponents may make. That, therefore, with an average hand in the hands of the partner and the opening bidder, the opponents cannot bid and make game. It is on this premise that the theory of the opening bid is founded.

In valuing high cards defensively the writer only figures first and second of the high cards, the Aces and Kings and their combinations. No definite defensive value is given to third round tricks. Their value is considered indeterminate and is called "plus" value. A half a trick is a high card which will take a whole trick and a whole card will take two tricks. This practically covers all combinations to which definite defensive trick taking probabilities can be given.

One Half a Trick:—Any King X.
One Trick:—Any Ace, any King Queen, any King X, any King Small, any Queen Small in different suits.

One and One Half Tricks:—Any Ace Queen, any King Jack.
One Half a Trick:—Any King Small.

One Trick:—Any Ace, any King Queen, any King Jack Small, any King Small and Queen Small in different suits.

One and One Half Tricks:—Any Ace Queen, any King Jack Ten, any Ace Jack Ten.

Two Tricks:—Any Ace King. All other high cards, queens, jacks, singleton kings etc. are simply lumped under the valuation "plus."

Quantitative trick taking valuation is a combination value for the twenty-six cards of the partnership and comprises three kinds of cards that will take tricks i.e. high cards and their combinations—2nd small cards of long suits—3rd small trumps that can be used for ruffing. The values under and three are called distributional values.

Of the tables arranged for valuing cards quantitatively, the table sponsored by Ely Culbertson is probably the most complete and most accurate. It must be remembered, en passant, that distributional valuations are only to be relied upon up to a maximum of ten tricks for the combined hands. Beyond ten tricks distributional valuations, as a rule must be extremely well fortified with high card tricks.

No trump declarations, quantitative valuations must, of necessity, cover only the first two kinds of tricks, as in no trump there can be no ruffing tricks. This is the fundamental reason why fewer number of tricks are required to go game in no trump than in a suit declaration. Therefore it follows logically that those hands which contain little chance for the making of ruffing tricks, should whenever possible, be played in no trump as the cheapest of the no trump game recommends it. This being so, contract players who hold a balanced hand i.e. a hand which contains no void or singleton should endeavor whenever possible, to play the balanced hand in no trump, provided the partner's hand is not unbalanced.

The table given below, for use in valuing hands quantitatively is taken from the Culbertson with only minor variations.

Recipe For Iced Tea

Tells How To Prepare This Delectable Summer Drink
Use 6 heaping teaspoons of "SAL-ADA" Black Tea; brew tea in a pint of freshly boiled water for six minutes; strain and pour liquid into a two quart container. While hot, add one and a half cups of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Then shake or stir contents well until sugar is fully dissolved. Fill container with water. DO NOT ALLOW TEA TO COOL BEFORE ADDING THE COLD WATER; otherwise, liquid will become grainy. Strain and pour liquid into tall glasses with crushed ice or cubes of ice added. A slice of lemon may also be added if desired. This recipe will make two quarts of Iced Tea, or 7 tall glasses.

Practically all of the increase is accounted for in the exports to the French possessions of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

DEVELOPMENT OF EMPIRE TRADE WOULD AID WEST

Saskatoon, Sask.—Envisioning the coming imperial conference as a rainbow in the clouds at a time of disillusion and despair, Dr. John W. Dufosse, dean of Canadian editors, addressed convention delegates of the Union of Saskatchewan Municipalities on "Canada and Foreign Markets," an address which looked to facilitation of empire trade and modification of obstacles to international commerce.

Dr. Dufosse, termed by introductory speakers, including Premier J. T. M. Anderson, as "an eminent figure in empire journalism," delivered the main address at a luncheon tendered the convention delegates by the Saskatchewan Board of Trade.

Drawing attention to the substantial improvement in conditions that would follow any impetus to inter-empire and world trade occasioned by the conference at Ottawa next month, the eminent journalist pointed to the benefits that would accrue to the west.

"There is no place in the world more likely to profit than the three western provinces," he declared, "and no cities will feel the impulse quicker than the cities of the west."

While he advised his audience to follow the conference deliberations with interest and hope for a definite step upward and out of the depression, Dr. Dufosse warned against too great expectations for "the conference of the family." In doing this, he recalled the many parlays of the past 10 years when world leaders had "talked much and done little."

Affirming that trade with the empire and the world was indispensable to Canada, "of all countries," the speaker had nothing but scorn for that "curious theory" that international trade was a little out of date. To him it seemed that "the world is getting its belly full of doing without international trade and it doesn't like the dose very well."

It would not be long, he predicted, until it was realized that world commerce was something indispensable.

Capture Market For Lumber

Canada Secures Australian Trade As Result Of Good Work Of Mission

Montreal, Que.—Canadian lumber producers can hardly expect an expansion of the Australian market as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference because they have already displaced United States lumbermen in that field, according to F. Abbey, Australian importer.

"This diversion is the result of the lumber trade mission which Canada sent over to Australia about 2½ years ago," said Mr. Abbey.

The gentlemen who were members of the commission knew their business very well. They visited us and told us the Canadian point of view. They attempted to sell nothing at all. Yet I know that at least as far as my state of Victoria is concerned, they were very successful. We don't buy lumber from the United States any more."

Deferred Elections

Report Manitoba Conservatives Will Not Contest Northern Ridings

Winnipeg, Man.—Conservatives of Manitoba will not contest the two deferred election seats at The Pas and Rupert's Land, it was made known at party headquarters here. Nomination day in these two northern ridings is July 4 and polling day July 14.

There will probably be an acclamation in Rupert's Land but in The Pas the Independent Labor Party will force Premier John Bracken to an election.

Proposed Change In System

Edmonton, Alberta.—Alberta proposes changing the present municipal district system to one of "enlarged municipal areas," according to a plan announced by Premier John Brownlee. ## Advertise the West

Formal Opening Ceremonies At Fort Churchill Are Approved

Winnipeg, Man.—Formal opening of the Port of Churchill during the present season would meet with the full approval of the Manitoba Government, two cabinet ministers stated. They added the hope the ceremony would be one which would advertise the prairies' direct outlet to the sea to the world, and viewed with favor the suggestion that overseas delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference should attend.

The recent statement of Hon. R. J. Manion, Federal Minister of Railways and Canada, that he was considering plans for formal opening ceremonies in connection with both Churchill and the Welland Canal led Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, and Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources and Industry, to hope for early action.

Famine In China

Cannibalism Reported Rife In Desolated Areas

Vancouver, B.C.—Desolation and disaster in the famine areas of China were described to members of the Canadian Club by Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury Cathedral, Canterbury, Kent, England. Dean Johnson spent three months studying conditions in China.

Cannibalism was rife in areas where food was scarce, he declared. Conditions were so bad they were almost beyond imagination. "One missionary told me he had actually witnessed the preparation of human flesh for food."

Many desperate people resorted to suicide when they had gone without food for days and no relief was in sight. Relief workers were under a severe handicap, due to poor transportation facilities, he concluded.

New 'Mountie' Posts Being Established

One At Fort Norman Will Be Opened At Once

Calgary, Alberta.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be stationed at Fort Norman in the Great Bear Lake area of Canada's north, according to an announcement made by Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commissioner of the R.C.M.P. An officer may be stationed also at Echo Bay, near the centre of the mining fields.

The Fort Norman detachment, he said, would control the activities at Great Bear Lake, scene of recent bear-baiting ordeals, which drew hundreds of fortune hunters into the district. Establishment of the Echo Bay post will not occur for some time, he stated.

Had Minor Misfortune

Saskatchewan's Treaty Paying Party Delayed By Motor Trouble

Regina, Sask.—Minor misfortune struck Saskatchewan's treaty paying party which started out early in June for its 2,000 mile trip among the waterways of the north taking out thousands of new dollar bills to pay the Indians, according to Inspector W. M. Munson, of the Indian Department. The outboard motor broke down and it was necessary to send out an auxiliary motor to the party.

The canoe party is now on its way to Portage la Roche near the Alberta boundary, and it has already paid treaty at Canoe Lake and Clear Lake. S. H. Simpson, Battleford, is the paying officer this year.

Business Brisk At Churchill

Weber, president of the concern, is shipping more horses north to take care of added business.

Combat Forest Fires

Toronto, Ont.—Approximately 1,000 men have been added to the regular fire-fighting contingent of the Ontario Forestry Branch this year, owing to the particularly difficult bush fire situation which had prevailed throughout widely scattered parts of the province. Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests announced.

BRITAIN FAVORS U. S. PROPOSAL FOR ARMS CUT

Geneva, Switzerland.—Proposal of President Herbert Hoover for a one-third reduction in world armaments, which provoked instant opposition from France and varying degrees of approval from other countries when submitted by the United States delegation to the disarmament conference, was welcomed for its "breadth of view" and at the same time supplemented by additional suggestions in a statement made on behalf of Great Britain by Sir John Simon, foreign secretary.

The United States proposal to cut one-third of naval, military and air armament expenditures by a resulting saving to the world estimated at from $10,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 in the next 10 years was regarded, despite absence of official confirmation, as a condition to reopening the war debt question. This view appealed to many observers despite the stress placed by the United States government on the statement that its representatives here have not discussed war debts and reparations.

Greeting the pronouncement with the words "that any reasonable step whereby the vast toll of men under arms throughout the world can be reduced in any way which does not diminish the security of any country, is welcome," the British foreign secretary went on to declare, "I say boldly, on behalf of the United Kingdom, that in some respects we want more disarmament than here appears. We have made no secret of the fact that we want submarines entirely abolished and indeed we have hitherto understood that in this respect we have the support of the United States delegation."

"But if submarines cannot be abolished," continued Sir John Simon, "and the view prevails that for some powers they provide an element of defence in home waters, then let us at least limit their size to 25 tons. Again, since the subject of capital ships is again mentioned today, the United Kingdom delegation desire to point out that, as they understood it, the proposals now submitted make no provision for reducing their monstrous size."

Hugh M. Gibson explained the Hoover program. It meant the United States was ready to scrap 300,000 tons of naval vessels and to forego the right to build more than 150,000 tons.

"In land materials," said Mr. Gibson, "our proposals would affect more than 1,000 heavy mobile guns and approximately 90 tanks; in aviation, about 300 bombardment aeroplanes."

Joseph Paul-Boncour, French Minister of War, promptly responded: "Reduction of armaments is inseparably bound up with security. We are willing to study the Hoover proposals if the Americans will study the requirements of French security."

"Absolutely unacceptable" was the description of the Hoover proposals given by the French Minister of War in a press interview.

The German representatives said the proposals would give the conference "a new impetus." Readiness to co-operate was expressed by Japan and more enthusiastic response made by Italy and Russia.

A $100,000 addition to the retail store of Woodwards, Ltd., at Edmonton, is now under way.

WELCOMES DISARMAMENT

SIR JOHN SIMON

British Foreign Secretary is strongly in favor of President Hoover's proposals, and would even go further, he declared.

Destructive Wind Storm

Tract Of Fertile Land In Southern Saskatchewan Suffers From Gale

Milestone, Sask.—Reminiscence of the Regina cyclone of June 30, 1912, the district south of Milestone was visited by a heavy wind storm accompanied by rain and hail which did untold damage to buildings and crops lying in its path. The gale came up quickly, and though it lasted for little more than half an hour it spread destruction over a tract of fertile land approximately three miles wide and 12 miles long lying about four miles south of town.

There were no deaths resulting from the storm, but Robert Rennie, Jr., had a terrifying experience and a very narrow escape while the house in which he had been residing was lifted off its foundation and smashed to kindling wood. Mr. Rennie was alone at the time, his wife being away visiting relatives, and he jumped from a height of about 15 feet to the ground. His only injury was a sprained ankle.

It was the worst storm ever experienced in this locality. The worst hail damage was apparently done to the farms of H. V. Underwood, Mrs. J. Bradley, Ross Cottingham and Wm. McCartney.

Veterans Ask Probe

Claim Alleged Fraud Cases Shadow On Administration Of Pension Act

Ottawa, Ont.—Declaring publicity given to allegations of fraud and misrepresentation in connection with war pensions casts a serious shadow on the administration of the pension act, the Associated Veterans of Canada have issued a statement calling for an investigation of the charge.

The statement is signed, representatives of the Army and Navy Veterans, the Canadian Legion, including the Tubercular Veterans section, the Great War and the Sir Arthur Pearson Amputations' Association, the Canadian Pensioners' Association, the son Club of Blinded Sailors and Soldiers.

Ottawa, Ont.—No "general investigation" into the war pensions system and into frauds that have been perpetuated by reason of misrepresentation on the part of a number of recipients is contemplated, Colonel J. G. Thompson, chairman of the Board of Pensions Commissioners, said. That frauds existed was known, and these were being checked daily.

Cowboys Hold Bronchos

Until Toronto Rodeo Authorities Come Across With Wages

Toronto, Ont.—Never-say-die spirit of the Canadian west has manifested itself here in unusual fashion.

An even score of cowhands from southern Saskatchewan and Alberta were tending 65 bronchos on the outskirts of Toronto. They rode off with the animals when they did not get paid for their week's work at a local stampede and rodeo. And they have declared their intention of keeping the bronchos until the rodeo authorities come across.

Seven-foot tall Harry Hourie, of the Wood Mounts, relative of the man who captured Louis Riel, instigator of the Northwest rebellion, was in the van as the 20 odd rode off with the 65 bronchos.

DE VALERA PLAN DOES NOT MEET WITH APPROVAL

London, England.—Suggestions of President Eamon de Valera, of the Irish Free State, that the difference between Great Britain and the Free State over the payment of land annuities should be referred to an international tribunal is unacceptable to the British Government, it was understood here following a meeting of the cabinet.

Considering its reply to De Valera's last note, in which the suggestion was made, the cabinet was believed to be firm in the opinion that only an Empire body could be permitted to arbitrate matters affecting the relations between the governments at London and Dublin.

At the same time the ministers were not inclined to contest as vigorously a second point in the De Valera communication, namely, that if and when the land annuities dispute was referred to arbitration, other annual payments by the Free State to Great Britain should also be considered. It is, therefore, regarded as probable here that if the Irish authorities were to agree to the principle of arbitration before an Empire tribunal, Great Britain would consent to having the scope of the hearing extended beyond the matter of land annuities.

Ship Via Churchill
